NEWS UPDATE

May 27, 2021

Have You Heard?

Exams from Home (EFH) Extended Hours Available Now!

We have recently extended the hours that Exams from Home sessions are available to accommodate for the high demand of the system. Previously hours were from 7am through 4pm MDT seven-days a week and we have now extended our standard hours moving forward to 5am through 7pm MDT seven-days a week until the end of June 2021. From July 2021 standard hours will be offered in the US, however, weekends will be closed down through July. As a reminder, Certiport Exams from Home is only available to those education institutions that are not able to test in-person at a Certiport Authorized Testing center due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Please check the calendar often to stay-up-to date on the EFH availability as it is subject to change.

Girl Power in Engineering

We are seeing more women in all sectors of the workforce, including in the science and engineering sector. However, according to the US Bureau of Labor Statistics, still only 13% of engineers are women.

Check out our list of four engineering groups that recognize that we still have much work to do and are determined to change the status quo.
